BERLIN LEAVES CUT AS SOVIETS BLOCK ROADS

U. S. Personnel Affected as Russians Restrict Highway Travel.

By The Associated Press

BERLIN July 10 American and British commanders canceled all leaves for their personnel in Berlin today The French were expected to follow suit

Maj Gen George P Hays U S deputy military governor declared that Americans would submit to the latest Soviet restrictions on the last land route linking the city with the western zone of Germany These restrictions took the form of demanding the right to approve all western allied motor vehicle traffic leaving Berlin for western Germany

To Suspend Travel

Hays' statement apparently means the Allied leaders would suspend their motor travel on the highways

The cancellation of leaves, it was explained was because of the difficulty of leaving Berlin The British added that all their personnel are needed in Berlin to handle the work of the air lift the only means of bringing in supplies and passengers

The British cancellation was effective July 15

The Russians had announced through their official news agency, ADN that henceforth no western allied highway traffic to or from Berlin would be permitted except on special Soviet travel permits

The Russians also ordered their border patrols to search every allied vehicle to prevent the transport of forbidden goods

A trickle of American passenger traffic went over the autobahn from Berlin westward to Helmstedt this morning and was allowed to pass by Russian border guards By 11 a m two Americans had gone through

Orders Not Yet Given

This indicated the new Soviet order had not yet been passed down for execution The Soviet announcement in the press had not stated a date to begin searches

All vacation leaves by U S army personnel and military government employes in Berlin were cancelled by order of Gen Lucius D Clay the military governor because of the difficulty of leaving Berlin

Hays said the Russians had not notified the American military government officially of these new regulations The Russians have been issuing such notices through their controlled press with increasing frequency of late

Attitude Unchanged

When the Russian announcement was read to him over the telephone Hays said

"There is no change in our attitude regarding free access to Berlin We dont intend to submit to any new regulations We have the right to free access and we intend to get it

Hays was not prepared to say what the American action would be but referred to the Washington protest note to Moscow published last night

The U S note issued jointly with British and French notes demanded that the Russians lift the ground blockade of Berlin before there could be any negotiations of the issues involved in the east-west crisis here

DRIVE TO STOP TRUMAN TRIPS WESTERN FOE

James Roosevelt Caught in Backfire as His Drive Collapses.

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA July 10 The collapsing anti-Truman movement backfired against James Roosevelt one of its leaders today while Democratic convention delegates talked mostly about vice presidential possibilities

The convention begins Monday with President Truman as much a cinch for the presidential nomination as anything can be a cinch in politics

Senator Scott Lucas of Illinois was reported this morning to have the inside track to second place on the ticket Later on talk developed at convention headquarters that perhaps Supreme Court Justice William O Douglas might get the assignment

Rep John W McCormack of Massachusetts arrived in Philadelphia and told a reporter he would take the vice presidential nomination if it came his way But he said he wasn't asking for it

James Roosevelt also came to town And some of his warring California delegation promptly took steps to rebuke him for leading a drive against Mr Truman

The son of the late President said that probably the caucus he had called for tonight to try to promote Gen Dwight D Eisenhower for president now would be called off

Johnston Gives Up

Another anti - Truman man Senator Olin D Johnston of South Carolina abandoned a plan to bring before the Democratic national committee a resolution calling on the President to withdraw as a candidate in favor of Eisenhower

Since Eisenhower has eliminated himself "completely and finally" as a presidential possibility Johnston said it would be "useless" to press the resolution

But he said "the south will not vote for Truman"

And it looked as if there would be no chance to vote for Douglas at least for president At his Oregon home the justice said again that he isn't a presidential candidate and would make a statement later

John P McEnery vice chairman of the Democratic central committee of California started the backfire against Roosevelt He said he would ask California delegates to demand at a caucus Roosevelt's withdrawal as national committeeman-designate

North Backs McEnery

Some delegates said McEnery would get the support of the entire northern California faction in the state organization One of them Patrick W McDonough had proposed even before the delegation left the coast that Roosevelt resign as a delegate

Although Lucas himself said he isn't a candidate an associate of Mr Truman said that unless plans are changed within the next 48 hours the tall bronzed Illinois senator may be the White House choice for second man on the ticket

Lucas who voted for the Taft-Hartley act but in favor of sustaining Mr Truman's veto of the labor law, was described in administration circles here as a logical candidate to join the President in expected major attacks on the record of congress

But White House aides emphasized that no final decision on the vice presidential nominee has been made

An assistant Democratic leader of the senate Lucas has kept his record of supporting the President's proposals about as clean as any of the ineligible vice presidential possibilities such as Senator Theodore Green of Rhode Island Green is pointed out only because of his advanced age

Lucas also could be expected to help bring within the Democratic fold the highly doubtful state of Illinois where Jacob M Arvey Chicago Democratic leader only yesterday was trying converted to the Truman cause

U. S. Hopes Russia Will Act on Blockade Warning

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 10 — American officials expressed hope today that Moscow will yield to western power arguments and warnings and lift the Russian blockade of Berlin

If the Soviets do not give way the only alternative course seen by [illegible] Britain France [illegible] Washington, Paris and London the texts of notes which they had sent to Russia on the Berlin [illegible] Tuesday

[illegible] Soviet government formally by the first of the three powers consider that (a) they are in Berlin by right (b) they have the right of free access to the city and (c) [illegible] threat.

In the notes of the American note, which Secretary of State Marshall signed, the United States government "declares that it will not be induced by threats pressures or other action to abandon these rights" Marshall then sought to clinch the point by adding

"It is hoped that the Soviet government entertains no doubts whatsoever on this point

With some differences in wording the British and French took the same line

The American note offered to negotiate outstanding disputes between east and west Berlin but demanded that the blockade must be lifted first Marshall insisted that this be done without delay

Hint at UN Appeal

Throughout all three notes ran the implication of an appeal to the United Nations unless the Russians were willing to put an end to a situation which Marshall described as "intolerable"

The western powers are now feeding 2 400 000 people in the western zones of Germany with supplies brought in by air transport

13 IN STATE PEN DEATH ROW

Population at New Record; More Cells Added To Enlarge Quarters.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 10—Of a penitentiary's death row today are 13 convicted killers—more than ever before in the 112-year-old institution's history.

The condemned men range in age from 18-year-old Donald Prohner to 46-year-old Ova B. Curnutt.

One of the 13 — Curnutt's nephew Elmer Curnutt, 21 — is scheduled to die in the electric chair next Friday.

However death row's population may be increased before then. Workmen added a second floor of cells to the row last week — increasing the capacity from 13 to 21.

Several men recently sentenced to death currently are awaiting transfer to the grey-walled, mid-town prison. Authorities were unable to bring them here earlier because of the accommodation shortage.

Uncle Granted Stay

Elmer Curnutt and his uncle were sentenced to death following conviction of the slaying of Thomas Wilson, 58-year-old Cincinnati cafe owner. The younger man later announced his uncle had nothing to do with the slaying. The uncle was granted an indefinite stay of execution by the Ohio supreme court.

Young Prohner who entered death row on March 20 of 1947 also has been granted an indefinite stay. He originally was to die June 10 1947 following conviction of the robbery slaying of W. E. Speth, a salesman.

Others facing death are:

Roger Williams, 34, originally sentenced to die on March 1 1948 for the Logan county slaying of Minta Webb Rothwell. He was granted an indefinite stay of execution by the Ohio supreme court. He entered death row Nov. 21 1947.

Lever Nichols 43 convicted of the Allen county slaying of Lewis Whitaker, was sentenced to die April 30 1948. He was also granted an indefinite stay of execution by the Ohio supreme court.

Harold A. Beach 23 convicted of the sex-slaying of eight-year-old Sheila Ann Tuly in Cuyahoga county. He was given an indefinite stay of execution by the court of appeals.

Robbery Murder

Frank H. Millhouse 23 scheduled to be electrocuted Aug. 11 for the robbery-murder of Jordan Ranchoff in Cleveland. He entered death row April 24 1948.

Andrew Berry, 44, convicted of the murder of Emanuel L. Watkins during the robbery of a Toledo tavern, Berry was sentenced to die Aug. 25 and later granted an indefinite stay of execution by the Ohio supreme court.

Ralph Reed, 27, convicted of the Cleveland slaying of George Margulis. He is sentenced to die Sept. 23.

Charles Sparks 22 and Asbery Adams 19 sentenced to die Oct. 1, 1948 for the robbery-slaying of James C. Case Hamilton county taxicab driver.

Barney Davis 22 convicted of the Cleveland murder of Police Officer Norman Carl Reker. He was sentenced to be electrocuted Feb. 25 1949.

Nathaniel Henry Strain 26 sentenced to be electrocuted Oct. 25 for the rape-slaying of 71-year-old Alice Lauterback in Columbus.

PUSH ROAD WORK IN DELAWARE CO.

Three state highway projects of recent date and involving almost a million and a half dollars are of interest to Delaware county residents as well as the general motoring public, Robert F. Werner, division engineer, said today.

Making an effort to complete construction on the Alum Creek bridge on routes 36 and 37 between Delaware and Sunbury by 1949 is one objective of the division, Mr. Werner said.

Contracting firm is A. J. Baltes Co. of Norwalk. He began work last January at a figure of $266,958.13.

The Bellepoint bridge six miles southwest of Delaware road project on Rt. 42 began two years ago is undergoing final stages of work, preparatory to completion.

The job was awarded to Valentine and Company. Columbus. Operations were started 9 Aug. 12, 1946. Incidentally the Valentine Company was awarded the Sandusky million dollar bridge contract in Franklin County.

Work on the bridge was stymied for a time due to the shortage of structional steel. However the work was accelerated when steel was again available.

The berm is already leveled and grass is growing under the topping of straw-mulch adding to the decorative beauty of the new structure.

The contract which involves construction of the bridge and improvement of a mile and three quarters of Route 42 was let at $540,000.

The largest of the three major projects completed a month ago is the seven mile stretch of road extending from Sunbury at Route 61 east to the Delaware-Licking county line over routes 3 and 36 toward Mt. Vernon at a cost of $721,335.

Started two years ago the newly relocated road eliminates many of the hazards once posed by perilous grades and turns.

A. J. Baltes, Inc. of Norwalk was the contractor.

RATE PROBE WITNESS

Bridget Bureau's chief economist Frank L. Burton, a former Justice department employe, is a House committee investigating alleged wartime frauds, over charges to the U. S. that an FBI probe of former Army and Navy officers who helped set the rates was stalled. In 1945 Rep. George Bender (R) of Ohio committee chairman, announced he would press Attorney General Clark for an investigation of individual officers.

4,581 EXAMINED IN ANTI-TB TESTS HERE

County Health Dept. Complimented on Record.

A total of 4,581 persons were examined here in the recent mobile X-ray tuberculosis examination program according to an operations report received today by Dr. N. Sifritt, Marion county health commissioner.

Charles M. Casey, field supervisor of the tuberculosis division of the Ohio department of health, in submitting the report complimented Dr. Sifritt and his department, the Marion County Tuberculosis and Health association, and Marion's industrialists for their cooperation in making the TB detection program a success here.

The program which started June 21 and ran through July 2 was the largest of its kind ever attempted here. Dr. Sifritt said. The health commissioner expressed satisfaction at the local response to the free X-ray examination program. An especially outstanding public response was noted in Prospect, where 239 persons were examined in one day.

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

STRANGE people with long hair keep nudging up to me at literary teas and whispering:

"Young man, why don't you quit chasing fire engines and write a play." There's fame and fortune in it. Look at Tennessee Williams. Surely you have a play in you."

This makes me mad. Because I did have a play in me—but it's been outside me now for some years.

I wrote it when I — Hal (Missouri) Boyle — was in college with Tennessee (Thomas Lanier) Williams. While I was earnestly studying the history of early Roman band instruments and other culture subjects, Tennessee started his career in literary dazzling.

But the years have been turning cartwheels over his. The Glass Menagerie and A Streetcar Named Desire. Perhaps now, in fairness to the theater I should at long last publish my play. Well you didn't ask for it but here it is.

(The curtain rises and discloses a luxurious apartment in a hospital so plush that even death can't get in without showing a calling card. A venerable white-haired lady and a high priced medical specialist stand before a door. Beyond the door but unseen by the audience the lady's husband, a poor old multi-millionaire, is dying in comfort.)

Doctor (somberly)—"He's still conscious but he can't last another half hour."

Lady—"Can you guarantee it?"

Doctor (surprised)—"Beg pardon?"

Lady—"Can you guarantee it?"

Doctor (surprised)—"Beg pardon?"

Lady—"I want to tell him something but only if he's about to go to heaven."

Doctor (cautiously)—"Well, he's about to go somewhere."

Lady—"I must confide in you, doctor. You see, my husband is one of those men who pride themselves they are always right. And he has been right so often. He never made a mistake in his business career. He was buying automobile stock when other people were still defending the horse. He has made millions."

Doctor (rubbing his hand)—"How thoughtful."

Lady—"Yes, but his life has been miserable. His proud nature couldn't stand to be wrong even once. And in one instance he still isn't sure he was right."

Doctor (puzzledly)—"Yes?"

Lady—"After our marriage he told me I knew you've had a lover before me."

Doctor (politely)—"Hmmm, strange."

Lady—"Of course I denied it. He tried in every way to get me to admit he was right. I refused. Year after year he came back to the subject. He couldn't stand to be wrong. I always told him he was on that point. I think that helped hold our many ago together. He never gave up. Wasn't it terrible of him?"

Doctor—"Hmmmmmm."

Lady—"Last night was our fiftieth anniversary. We had a nice party. But after our five children and 12 grandchildren left he asked me that same question again. I said—'That's when he lost his temper and had the stroke.'"

Doctor—"Well he hasn't more than 15 minutes left in this world."

Lady—"Then open the door."

Doctor—"You want to say goodbye?"

Lady—"No. I just want to tell the exasperating old fool the truth at last so he can die happy. But I still wouldn't do it if I thought he was going to be around to brag."

He was right about that, too!"

As she goes through the door, the curtain falls—quick.

Okay, Broadway—it's yours. I don't think I want it anymore.

BIGGEST CORN CROP IN HISTORY FORECAST

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 10—The agriculture department forecasts the largest corn crop in history—3,328,882,000 bushels.

The department's first estimate of this year's corn harvest was released last Friday. Last year's crop of 2,641,433,000 bushels was the smallest since 1936.

At the same time the department estimated 1948 wheat production at 1,301,731,000 bushels. This was somewhat higher than last month's estimate of 1,182,425,000 bushels. It was exceeded only by last year's all-time record crop which totaled 1,365,000,000 bushels.

The 1948 harvest of winter wheat which is coming to market now was placed at 951,938,000 bushels. The spring crop which is harvested in the fall was estimated at 289,793,000 bushels. Estimates last month were 877,230,000 and 315,193,000 bushels, respectively.

The department predicted a winter wheat yield of 16.1 bushels an acre. This compared with 19.5 in 1947 and 16.6 for the 10-year average (1937-1946). Yield per acre for spring wheat was estimated at 15.4 bushels compared with 15.3 last year and 14.9 for the 10-year average.

Yield per acre for corn was set at 38.9 bushels, compared to 38.6 last year and 37.4 for the 10-year average.

The department estimated that this year's corn crop will exceed even the previous all-time record of 3,240,850,000 bushels harvested in 1946.

Such a crib-bursting harvest will be doubly welcome in 1948 because of the extremely small 1947 crop. It is expected to exert a restraining influence on future meat prices, since corn is the raw material of meat.

Delaware County Coach To Take New Position

CANTON, July 10. John Canfield and Houston Schlosser will assume duties next fall as head football and basketball coach, respectively, at nearby Minerva High school.

Canfield and Schlosser were named yesterday to replace Jerry O'Hara, who coached both sports.

Canfield, a former Ohio State and Otterbein star graduated from Otterbein only last June. Schlosser racked up a 24-4 record with Brown High school in Delaware county last year.

STATE FAIR KEYNOTE, "OHIO ON DISPLAY"

By International News Service

COLUMBUS July 10 — The Ohio State fair Aug 28 to Sept 3 will have as little commercialism as the agriculture department can arrange

Instead Fair Manager Ed Bath said today the keynote of the annual exhibition will be Ohio in display

Bath said the manufacturers' building, previously used exclusively for industrial exhibits would house displays of all Ohio's native resources plus an extensive exhibit on what the taxpayer gets for his dollar"

Bath said each department of the state government and in some cases several divisions within a department would set up a show to explain how it serves the public

Bath said a space could have been rented for $7,200 but that "the purpose of the fair is not to make money," so the manufacturers will be relegated to a smaller building and outside tents

John R Advent, head of the Ohio development and publicity commission, added that the swing was away from dead exhibits of charts and graphs, and that each display would concentrate on graphic animated interpretations

Bath said facilities for one thousand additional poultry entrys had been installed Moreover there will be 80 more stalls for draft horses and 200 extra outside cattle stalls.

He said new classes had been set up for grass fed cattle and for brown Swiss dairy cattle He explained that the grass fed classification was added because of "the necessity for providing grain for Europe"

It was also announced that last year's procedure would be followed in dusting the grounds completely with DDT

NEED BILLION MORE FOR U.S. SCHOOLS

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND July 10 — To provide each American child educational opportunities equal to those the average youngster had in 1940 schools need at least $185 a pupil or a billion dollars more than the 3.5 billion spent last school year, a study of the problem showed today

Dr F G Cornell of the University of Illinois department of education reported the findings of a three-day workshop on school finance at the National Education Association's annual convent on yesterday

The five-day meeting ended last night and 3 500 delegates were on their way back to every state and territory of the USA The executive committee which remained here today to clean up tag ends of business will pick a site for next year's meeting later

The school finance workshop chairmanned by John M Booth of Boise executive secretary of the Idaho Education association, concluded the present average national expenditure for each child is far below the minimum amount necessary to provide a well rounded modern educational program

At a time when all states are sharing an unprecedented national income of over 200 billion dollars annually' Cornell said 'it is paradoxical that there should be as many obstacles as were reported in this workshop

School revenues, he reported "are still derived chiefly from local taxes on property but for immediate relief schools must look to non-local sources of revenue Public education in competition with the other tax-supported public services must sell the idea of additional financial aid to parents, legislators and other lay men he added

Footnote on The Eisenhower Affair

THIS is one of those iffy editorials that gather up loose ends of things that never happened.

The particular thing that never happened was the nomination of Dwight Eisenhower for president of the United States in the election of 1948. His telegram to Senator Pepper Friday stopped the last possibility, unless Henry Wallace's crowd now should decide to start a third Eisenhower boom. But as far as the Democrats are concerned, Eisenhower's forthright statement that he would refuse to accept the nomination is final. In other words, the only way to say no is to say no.

If he had said it that way early this year when the Eisenhower boom was starting, a lot of wasted hope and anxiety could have been saved. If he had stated flatly that he was not available, no ifs, ands or buts about it, the effect on politics would have been most beneficial. But for reasons which are his personal secret, he chose to let the fires of speculation smolder.

If Gen. Eisenhower had no intentions of letting himself become a key element in national politics in 1948, he chose a curious method of doing it, as the main victim of the method, President Truman, has good reason to know at this point in his harried career as a chief executive whose followers wanted to follow Eisenhower instead.

Pay the Conductor

SETTLEMENT of the railway labor dispute makes the fixed relationship between wage rates and prices clearer than it is in some basic industries.

The railroad unions, including the three which forced the government to seize rail properties to avert a strike, have settled for approximately the same terms recommended by a presidential fact-finding board last March. Simultaneously, the interstate commerce commission has granted eastern railroads a new increase in passenger fares, in addition to the boost authorized last year.

These increases, along with other increases already given and perhaps more to follow, amount to official recognition that railroads, whose income is subject to public control, are entitled to sufficient revenues to meet rising operating expenses, fixed costs and the expense of replacing worn-out equipment. It is exactly the same pattern that binds all other enterprise. If labor is worthy of its hire—and of course it is—then capital and management are worthy of their hire too. And the public pay the hire.

John Lewis has obtained a larger share of the public's payments for coal—and the price of coal is going up. Automobile workers, building trade workers and dozens of other strongly unionized groups have precipitated a new round of price increases in their fields. Railroad workers, it is said, will demand still higher rates this fall.

Inflation will go on until it collapses under its own weight, a point that will be reached when public buying power no longer can keep abreast of the ever-increasing drain on its resources of cheapened dollars.

A Remote Possibility

AUTOMOBILES were jammed bumper to bumper for blocks. When they moved, the motion was sluggish and disjointed. It was like trying to dance on an overcrowded dance floor.

The usual swirls and eddies were being created by vehicles pulling into and away from the curbs to pick up passengers, that being one of the fixed functions of buses and passenger cars. Horns honked and drivers cursed. Fenders were bruised and tempers ruffled. Traffic policemen threaded their way through the mixup, helpless to do anything about it. No one could do anything about it. The root of the trouble was too many vehicles in too small a space. A curbstone observer said:

"We have regulations about overcrowding public buildings—so many people and no more. But when it comes to automobiles, we defy all common sense rules of safety and convenience. We let drivers jam them in and trust to luck that somehow they'll be able to get them out. It looks to me as if it would be smarter to put up the velvet ropes on some of our congested streets occasionally and keep any more cars from being jammed in until the cars already caught in the jam can wriggle out. It looks to as if the cheapest and easiest way to solve the problem of traffic congestion would be to regulate the flow of traffic in the first place, instead of trying to handle it catch-as-catch-can. But that's only a remote possibility, I suppose because...."

The sentence was never finished. A car swerved as its driver tried to avoid being sideswiped by a bus. The curbstone observer had to scramble to get out of the way. Horns honked, drivers cursed and there was the expensive screech of a bumper tearing $125 of streamlined beauty out of one of the new models with built-in fenders.

Among modern innovations being made in Britain's reconstructed house of commons are air conditioning, loud speakers, and a well-equipped gymnasium.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

And So Passes a Century.

WE WERE gathered in the simple Congregational church in Lee, Mass., to bid farewell to Frank Pease, the local druggist, whose father before him had run the same store since 1860. I turned to Edward Rogers, the president of the Lee Savings bank, himself well up in his eighties, to say how sorry I was that my old friend had passed on, but Rogers replied:

"I suppose it will make no difference a century from now."

SOKOLSKY

These men who pass three score and ten and even four score speak the word century almost with intimacy. And as they see their little group go, one by one, they grow hardened to the inevitable. I well remember that little group that gathered in the back room of Pease's drug-store 15 years ago when I first came to these mountains to summer.

There was Judge O'Brien, garbed in the dress of a Dickens character, a master politician who manipulated the local vote, and Judge Beasley, who presided over the local court and practiced law on the side and knew everybody's history and character for miles about and meted out justice with kindliness. There was Frank Pease himself, a Yankee of old stock, with a capacity for friendship rare anywhere. There was Edward Rogers, who had been a newspaperman and became a banker and quoted poetry and told stories and knew the lore of every village and town in this region and most of their inhabitants. And there were others. Of all this company, only two octogenarians remain to see the new generation spoil so swiftly what their forebears labored so valiantly to create.

Out of War Time

For these men came out of the Civil war generation. They had grown up with the country. They had fought the battles over the tariff, and hard and soft money, monopolies and trusts in that back room. They had witnessed the passing of the Yankee and the influx of new peoples, Irish, Italian, Pole and Jew, into their communities. They had watched the railroad grow and decline and had known a different life before the automobile changed everything. They knew the time when Americans spoke of freedom lovingly and no one mentioned the word, security.

They had known many presidents. Lincoln was a household word with their parents and Garfield and Cleveland summered in these parts. When they think of Roosevelt, it is Theodore they have in mind rather than Franklin, who belongs to our rather than to their generation.

They recall periods of prosperity and depression, the ups and downs of a free economic system without too much concern, for they can recount how in all troubled times the energetic and flexible survived and built while the laggard and complainer tried to live on other people's money. And they say that the same kind of people failed in the last depression as failed in all others. And that the same kind of people survived and succeeded.

Hard-headed were these men I used to meet in the back room of Pease's drug store, yet they were controlled by a strong sense of morality. They were tolerant of error but not of bad intent; they hated no one but measured character with uncanny accuracy.

Qualifications Lacking

I recall a merchant coming to these parts to set up a store. He seemed modern and lively and all out for success. But the back-room philosophers decided that he was not a valuable addition to the community. He, according to their judgment, lacked that quality that they called character, and they said that he would not last. And he did not last, not because they said so but because he did not last.

It has been a wonderful experience to know and have the friendship of these old Americans. There must be men like them in such a city as New York, but there are no back rooms behind stores in New York—no cracker-barrel atmosphere, no big, pot-bellied stove, no peaceful leisure for talk, no roots that run back for two or three centuries in the same soil. These men lived through the greatest period of creative force in America. They were not concerned too much with Europe or Asia, nor even with the American continents. They lived in New England—and loved it.

Where's the Mop?

By Frank Tripp

TODAY I'm taking up the cudgel for the youngsters of the land. They're being gypped. There's no federal bureau for bobby-soxers.

There are funnier bureaus than that. One to pension sub-debs and lounge lizards would make a swell, unending source of votes. It's a wonder no one has thought of it before.

Take it easy kids—don't fly off the handle. I'm not going to rib you. I'm with you. You're getting a dirty deal. But you may not like the remedy. We'll see.

TRIPP

You're getting a dirty deal because it's your fate to grow up in an era when everybody around you is trying to get by as easy as he can; trying to have every comfort of life, while contributing as little as possible to it.

Your elders have gone haywire; lost all sense of economic proportion; forgotten that everything they have they must create by their own toil, have come to think that there is some magic well from which can spring leisure and luxury at no cost to anyone.

And they are saps enough to dream that this can go on forever; that the public treasury is a bottomless thing from which can be drawn wealth which defies description. They have forgotten that the public treasury is filled by themselves.

You kids are the goats. All of this extravagance and wanton waste, all this folly of your forebears, all stifled production and industrial war—you must pay for. Not your parents, mind you; it will be you who pays. And it will be cruel!

An inquisitive bore once said to Cyrus H. K. Curtis, "My goodness, it must cost you a fortune to maintain this palatial yacht!"

"Not at all," replied wise Mr. Curtis, "in fact it costs me nothing. My heirs are paying for it."

Get the idea, kids? All the substance that is being consumed is being taken away from you. It is your right that it be conserved to secure your day of responsibility, which you cannot escape. Your fathers had it handed down to them. They are devouring it.

The job of recreating all that is wasted will fall upon you. You must replace it or you will have no country and no liberty in which to live.

So what's the answer, kids? It is work—and you cannot duck it. What is not done now you must do later or the bins will be empty.

It's like leaving the dishes. That's a sloppy way to keep house, yet it can be done until the last dish is dirty. Then, if you're going to eat, somebody must get out the dish pan and go to work.

You are the little suckers who are going to wash the dirty dishes that a crackpot philosophy is piling up in the sink—while your future goes down the drain. You've got to take over the mess that a non-productive horde of public trough huggers have plastered on a country that once was thrifty and happy.

Why not start now? Start by producing more than you consume. Can't get a job you like, is that it? Maybe you can if you go at it right. Do you always look for a soft, easy, genteel one, with short hours and big pay? Next time try it like this:

"Mister, I want to work. I don't care how long or how hard I want to start at the bottom. I won't be worth much for a while. Time is all I have to offer till I learn something. All I want is a chance to become the kind of American that made this great land. I'm ready to start now, mister. Where's the mop?"

You'll get the job. Then paddle your own canoe and stick to what you said.

And always remember—that the sweetest freedom, the most comfort and the grandest country the world has ever known were created by men who asked for the mop.

Who, Me?

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, July 10, 1938.

While no casualties were reported in Marion city and county, drownings took 12 lives in Ohio as the summer heat wave lingered over the week-end, seven more died in traffic as streets and highways were jammed with autoists and two youths were killed in an airplane crash south of Columbus. The thermometer soared to 90 degrees.

John W. Malone, believed to have been the oldest living native of Marion county, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Lawrence Wood of near East Liberty, within four months of his one-hundredth birthday. He was born Nov. 10, 1838.

John R. Himes, who had accepted the pastorate of St. Paul's English Lutheran church here, was ordained in the ministry in ceremonies conducted at Lancaster. Attending the ceremonies were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Beeman, Mrs. John C. Bonen, Misses Sarah and Geneva Bell and Misses Martha and Donna Seckel.

Mrs. H. L. Taylor and daughters Phyllis and Betty of McKinley street, Mrs. Clark Farley of East Church street and Miss Marjorie Ebert of Lake street were among those from Marion attending the "open house" at Camp Perry. The open house was arranged for relatives and friends of the 3,500 national guardsmen encamped there.

Approximately 200 Eagles from nearby towns attended a meeting of aeries in District No. 14 held here. Judge Phillips of Youngstown was a guest speaker. John Lusch of Marion, district director, and Paul Huffman of Tiffin, district chairman, were in charge.

S. W. Truman, proprietor of the Saratoga grill entertained his employes and their friends at an outing and picnic supper at Avondale on Indian Lake. About 30 attended.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Tuesday, July 10, 1928.

A degree team from Franklin Post No. 1, conferred the initiatory degree at a meeting held by Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162, American Legion. Speaker was O. F. Schmitz of Columbus. Others on the program were Col. Ralph Cole of Findlay, Grant E. Mouser Jr. of Columbus, Ralph Carroll, past state commander of the Spanish War Veterans, Mr. Acree, commander of Franklin post and Charles Wiley, commander of Cooper post, G. A. R.

A thinly-veiled but nevertheless significant warning to the new managers of the Democratic party not to take the south for granted in the campaign at hand was sounded by Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic vice presidential nominee.

Misses Stella Kramer and Florence Oberlander entertained the Toilers club at the home of the latter on South Prospect street. Awards were won by Miss Ruth Kramer and Mrs. Clarence Ross.

Probably the most terrific thunderstorm of the season at midnight, failed to bring relief to heat sufferers in Marion and vicinity. Only .07 inches of rain fell. Increased use of lemons during the heat wave jumped the price from three for 10 cents to five cents apiece.

How To Keep the Sea Wet

Russians Diverting Rivers Into Caspian.

THE Soviet Union has started diverting the course of at least six Russian rivers so they will flow south into the Caspian Sea and keep it from drying up. One of the rivers reportedly being diverted, the 1,150-mile Pechora, flows northward into the Arctic Ocean.

The Caspian, the world's largest lake, lies just east of the Black Sea. It reportedly is shrinking at such a rate that any additional loss of water will affect the Russian sturgeon catch, and thus threaten the world's supply of caviar.

Rude Pravo, a Czech newspaper, said scientists had worked out plans to alter the courses of the rivers with canals.

Scientists reportedly said the great salt sea has been diminishing at such a rate that entire harbors have been converted to beaches and islands have become peninsulas.

The northern part of the sea, including a small fresh water zone in the Volga estuary, is where the largest schools of fish are concentrated.

The Volga and the Ural, two of Russia's largest waterways, flow into the Caspian. The sea has no connection with the Black Sea or the Mediterranean.

Rude Pravo said Soviet scientists considered two ways to prevent the Caspian from drying up before deciding to divert the northern rivers. They were:

1. To link the Caspian with the Mediterranean by constructing a big canal to the Black Sea. Caspian fishermen protested this plan. They reportedly warned that Black Sea fish would swim into the Caspian and eat all the more peaceful inland fish. This argument apparently convinced all concerned and the plan was dropped.

2. To divert two big central Asiatic rivers, the Amu-Dar'ya and Syr-Dar'ya, into the Caspian. This was ruled out because the waters of the two rivers are to be used for irrigating the Kara-Kum Desert in Asiatic Russia.

Grade Teachers Needed

HIGH schools generally should be able to get all the new teachers they need from this year's crop of college and university graduates.

But grade schools are going to find things as bad as ever—if not worse.

This is the trend indicated in a nationwide survey conducted by the U. S. Office of Education. The office suggests two possible remedies:

1. Equal pay and prestige for all teaching jobs from kindergarten through high school.

2. More vocational guidance to get additional teachers into the grades where the jobs exist.

Because of record birthrates during and after the war, the elementary school population (grades 1 through 8) is going to remain high for several years. At the same time, the supply of elementary teachers is continuing to fall short of the need.

Colleges and universities surveyed in 41 states turned out about 54,000 teachers this spring, compared with 59,858 in 1941, and 34,071 of them are trained for high school teaching.

Fewer than 20,000 are headed for grade-school classrooms where two-thirds of the teachers normally should be.

Only slightly more than half of these new elementary teachers have had the four years of college training which educators generally advocate.

About 6,000 have had two years of post-high-school training; 1,900 have had only one year.

Prospective high school teachers in some specialties may run into job-hunting problems. There is a growing surplus of teachers in journalism and physical education.

Art is another crowded field—both industrial and with a capital A. The high schools also have just about all the teachers they need in English, mathematics, history and foreign languages.

On the other hand, teachers of home economics are needed so badly that educational groups and institutions are campaigning to get girls to go into the field.

Shortage of Psychiatrists

Training of Mental Specialist Takes Years.

THERE aren't enough qualified doctors in the United States to meet the public demand for adequate treatment of mental and emotional ailments.

Some of the nation's top psychiatrists laid this problem before the American College of Physicians at its recent San Francisco convention.

At the same time, these psychiatrists admitted that they, themselves, were largely responsible for stimulating the public's interest in preventing and treating mental illnesses.

"The public is expecting a great deal more from the medical profession in the field of psychiatry than we're able to deliver," Dr. Ward Darley of the University of Colorado declared.

Medical schools all over the country are trying to turn out enough trained psychiatrists, but such a job will take many years.

"We don't have enough qualified teachers," he said.

Furthermore, psychiatry can't be learned exclusively from lectures and textbooks. Students must actually participate in treatments and take responsibility for the patient's welfare.

Dr. Darley accused his fellow-psychiatrists of being specialists first and physicians second.

Dr. Karl Menninger of Topeka, Kans., bitterly attacked the belief that psychiatrists could "speed up" their work and handle more patients every hour of every day.

"We're constantly under pressure from the public and from other doctors to turn out more patients," he said, "but we don't have any quick tricks we can use. You hear a lot about 'brief treatments,' but brief psychiatry is often superficial psychiatry."

He said the briefest kind of treatment is hypnosis.

"You hypnotize the patient, tell the symptom to go away, and it goes away," he declared, "but too often it comes back."

Letters for Special Delivery

MR. PHIL KIERNAN,
President, Comics Magazines Publishers,

DEAR SIR:

Are you leveling? You recently announced that a proportion of the comic magazine publishers have agreed to a code that will give the kids a little protection in the clinches. In it are these pledges:

1—No comic shall know the details and methods of a crime committed by a youth.

2—Law enforcement officers never shall be portrayed as stupid or ineffectual, or represented in a way that weakens respect for constituted authority.

3—Sexy, wanton comics shall not be published. No drawing shall show a female more naked than in a bathing suit commonly worn in the United States.

You will please excuse me for laughing harder than I have ever laughed at funnies. Are those jokers deliberate or did they slip in while everybody was yawning?

I hope you don't belittle the intelligence of the American parents to such a point that you do not think they know that it is the details of crime portrayed by grownups in the comics that fascinate the kids. That "committed by a youth" clause makes Article 1 a phonus-balonius. The gangsters, gunmen, cutthroats and all-around baddies of the comic magazines all shave and wear long pants, Phil.

And who is kidding whom in that rule that officers of law and order shall not be portrayed as stupid or "ineffectual"? I had the idea that making a sapsoo out of the cop, sheriff, gumshoe and posse (up to the final scene maybe) was the very basis of comic magazine fun. You mean your cartoonists are going to make John Law bright and effectual from the start? Won't this throw Superguy, who always has to take over, out of work?

It is only a step from that to having the sheriff shoot straight, take the right trail the first time and not walk blindly into the simplest of traps. You should not stand for that, would you, Mr. Keenan?

Now for the joker of the year, which rates an Oscar of some kind. That is the item ending sexy comics by the rule that no cartoonist shall draw a gal "more naked than in a bathing suit commonly worn all over America." I will accept that as the best comic line of 1948.

I see, too, that the code says no scenes of sadistic torture shall be drawn. Also, that slang should be kept to a minimum. What? No scalpings, no brandings with hot irons, no tribal rough stuff to make Our Hero come through? No heroine tossed into the volcanic crater? No eyes put out?

Well, I guess it is all in fun. Everybody is adopting codes these days. The weather is fine for it. And the great question of how far a code should be thrown after adoption is still unsettled, but everybody seems to be trying for distance rather than direction.

Yours,
ELMER

Ye Broadway Bugle & Banner

"Howdy Mr. Ice!" strikes ye ed as less than a perfect name for a show. How about "The Iceman Runneth," "The Skate's The Thing" or "Look, Ma, I'm Gliding"? We liked Henny Youngman's crack that he couldn't get a job as a bartender because he couldn't fix television sets. Stymie is now so rich he may soon be asked to back a musical. Buck Crouse, the former Kansas City Star, New York Globe, Mail and Post scribe, looks set for another million with "Life With Mother." Sign reported by Lou Simon at the Fireside Inn bar: "Customers Who Discuss Politics Will Please Pay for Breakage." The next war may break out when the Democrats at the Philly convention are asked to join in "I'm Just Wild About Harry." Mrs. Irving Berlin is out with a new book, "Lace Curtains." Believe it or not, Central Park was the scene of a horseshoe pitching championship tournament this week, with a Gloversville country boy showing up the natives. Maryland now has night and day racing, with the runners at Havre de Grace and the trotters at Laurel.

The writers of radio comedy are appearing in their own air program. This is their first public confession of guilt.

Labor - Saving

By TRUMAN TWILL

Several of us took a turn with a scythe while visiting on a farm recently and promptly felt a deep respect for horny-handed farmers who used to mow all their hay and grain by hand—from dew-dry to dew-fall in harvest season.

Of course, they knew how to keep up a rhythmic motion that minimized their output of energy. They were accustomed to hard work and they had no means of knowing while they were doing it that they were being abused. They didn't expect anything else.

Their hands were leathery from constant toil. Ever since childhood they had been learning the knack of handling a scythe, just as they had been learning to milk cows, walk behind a plow and a team of horses, pitch hay, hoe corn, build fences and all the rest of it.

To be a farmer in those days was to be an artisan in many fields of specialty, all of them tough. A good farmer was expected to know about everything from carpentry to nursing a sick horse. He could pull teeth, shingle a barn, dig a well, prune a tree or paint a house.

His physical stamina was presumed to be inexhaustible. He cut ice in the winter, plowed his fields in the spring, gathered in the harvest during the summer and went into the woods as a lumberjack—all as a matter of course. He also worked out his taxes as a road-builder, held up his end on a threshing gang, served as a doctor in emergencies, took care of his political affairs, kept books, and performed as a weather prophet.

This isn't to suggest that today's farmer still isn't a jack of all trades. But machinery is doing some of the same things to him it has done to his city cousins—it is taking away the importance of individual skill. There are modern farmers who couldn't handle a scythe for more than a half hour at a time if their lives depended on it. And there are farmers who have come to depend so heavily on machinery that if anything happened to it they'd be as helpless as robots in a factory when the power fails.

All this has been for the better, of course. It has taken enough drudgery out of farm work to let agriculture feed the country without needing more than half the population to do it the hard way. And it has cut in the farmer on the benefits of labor-saving. There still are no quitting whistles on the barns, but there are electric lights inside and a lot more contented customers working around the premises and accomplishing ten times as much.

It's wonderful what a fellow will begin to think about after a few minutes swinging a scythe on a hot summer day, feeling the blisters rising on his hands, listening to his heart go pitty-pat and gasping for air. It took a real man to do that from dew-dry to dew-fall—but even a city feller could sit on a tractor and cut grass. Or could he?

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N BUNDESEN

Diet Free of Salt

PATIENTS with kidney and heart disease, particularly those whose tissues are waterlogged because of heart failure require a diet which is very low in salt. Unfortunately such a diet is difficult to plan since many natural foods such as meat dairy products figh and fowl, contain enough salt to make all the difference between success and failure in treatment.

Vegetables it is true, have a low salt content but, on the other hand they do not furnish enough protein to meet the body's needs. This is a serious drawback. Thus so long as we rely exclusively on natural foods the patient is caught between the Scylla of too much salt and the Charybdis of not enough protein.

Luckily during recent years the chemists have supplied us with a number of artificial foods which give us a way out of this dilemma. One of these is called protein hydrolysate and is made from proteins such as those from milk. Dissolved in water this preparation can be used to supply most of the protein needed in a salt-free diet.

It is possible to purchase white or wholewheat bread that has been baked without salt or baking soda and salt-free butter is also available.

When canned foods are employed it is necessary that those be used which do not have any sodium benzoate added as a preservative for it is the sodium element that is responsible for the collection of water in the tissues.

The juice of any fresh fruit is permitted in the diet and sugar may be added according to the patient's taste. Fresh or frozen vegetables are also permitted if no compound containing sodium has been used in processing the foods.

The following vegetables are particularly useful: lima beans, navy beans, cabbage corn, eggplant, cucumber okra peas, green pepper sweet or white potato without the skins, pumpkin quince and squash.

Such cereals as rice and wheat cereals barley rolled oats and macaroni are also allowed.

Among the fruits which are useful are cherries grapes, apples, pears peaches, the citrus fruits, tomatoes watermelon, and dates. Cantaloupe figs, and raisins are not permitted in the diet.

Unsalted nuts may be taken in moderate amounts. Other acceptable foods are gelatin honey and chocolate. Coffee tea and cocoa are not restricted.

Certain salt substitutes are available which may be employed. By following a suggested plan it is possible to build a nourishing diet low in salt in those cases in which such a diet is important to recovery.

Answer. Such pain might be due to infection of the glands in the armpit or to some involvement of the muscles and nerves. A thorough study would be necessary to determine the exact cause before treatment can be advised.

Use of Wooden Roof Troughs Increasing

Homeowners are quite surprised to learn that the roof gutters which they had installed several years ago for $30 now are costing $75. As material has about doubled, and labor has more than doubled, the answer is quite plain.

Metal gutters may be replaced with wooden gutters rapidly and easily, and the average man will find no difficulty in making the gutters and setting them in place.

Practically all roofs are built so that the edge of the shingles or other roof covering overhangs the wall by a few inches. In some houses the roof rafters extend out quite a distance from the walls, but are usually exposed so that the gutters can be fastened to them. In either case the wood gutters or troughs can be attached to the roof edge with comparative ease.

The first step is to make a plain, open trough, out of a 1"x6" wood strip. The bottom piece lies inside the two side pieces, and the three strips are well nailed together with 3" galvanized nails. The trough should be painted before it is set in place.

If the roof edge is only a few inches beyond the face of the wall, the side of the trough is nailed right to the wall, three or four inches below the roof edge. If the roof rafters extend out beyond the face of the wall, the trough may be fastened to the ends of the rafters.

As the overhang of a roof may be any distance that strikes the fancy of the builder, some ingenuity may be necessary to properly fasten the trough in place, but in any case it can be done.

Wood gutters are growing in popularity because of the economy in cost and the little labor required to install them.

GALION TO BE SITE FOR RADIO

Special to The Star

GALION, July 9 — A site has been selected for a radio broadcasting station in Galion, it was learned today from Homer Akers of Verona, N. J., who came to Galion for that purpose after being in Washington, D. C., attending to preliminaries before filing an application with the federal communications commission for permission to operate a station. Akers would not disclose the location of the site. He is visiting at the home of C. A. Castle.

Akers said that aerial photographs were taken of the prospective site, and the application is being processed. The company will be known as the Central Ohio Broadcasting Company.

In a recent letter to Mayor H. H. Hartmann, Akers stated that "we plan to broadcast programs of a civic nature which will render a definite public service to Galion."

COOL SLEEPING QUARTERS

If bedroom windows are closed with shades drawn during the day and opened at sunset, sleeping quarters will be several degrees cooler when night comes.

HEAT STOPPER

Four-inch mineral wool insulation in the roof area will prevent excessive amounts of summer heat penetrating into living quarters and keep interior temperatures 15 degrees cooler.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

PAINT PEELS TOO QUICKLY

Q.: Could you tell me why the paint I put on our home and apartment starts peeling off within a short time—the same year—after it is put on? It's getting me down. The wood was green originally, but the places were built six years ago. Anyway it peels off the sashes also, and they were thoroughly seasoned wood. There is no dampness inside the houses. Just about the time this trouble started I began wrapping my brushes in newspapers and keeping them in water. Could moisture be retained in the brushes and cause my trouble?

A.: I doubt if that treatment of the brushes would be responsible, although that way of caring for brushes is not recommended. There could hardly be enough water held in a brush to cause dampness in the paint all over a house. I believe the trouble may come from leakage around window and door frames that may be slight, but enough to let water run down inside the walls and soak into the back of the painted surfaces. Window frames tend to pull away from walls, and small crevices open up after a time. A carpenter or painter could find the cracks and close them with caulking compound, forced in with a caulking-gun. There are other reasons for paint failure—if not from damp indoor air, then perhaps from plumbing leaks, from fresh plaster, from sap, resin, or oil in the wood. Or the paint may have been applied when the surfaces were damp from a recent rainfall, or were too cold. Three or four dry days should pass after a rain, and work should start late enough in the morning for night dampness to have dried off. When repainting use the best paint, with perhaps a first coat of aluminum paint.

Smoothing "Spanish Plaster"

Q.: We have "Spanish plaster" on the walls of our livingroom, and would like to know the best and cheapest method of making the walls smooth enough to hang wallpaper on them. We would like to do the work ourselves.

A.: Go over the walls with coarse sandpaper wrapped around a piece of wood to take down the rougest part, then, after dusting off, fill the small hollows with "spackle," smoothing it on with a trowel or wood float. If you are going to do the paperhanging yourselves, try to get a type that has an adhesive on the back. This saves mixing the paste. Coat the spackle with very thin shellac, and before papering, give the walls a coat of glue sizing.

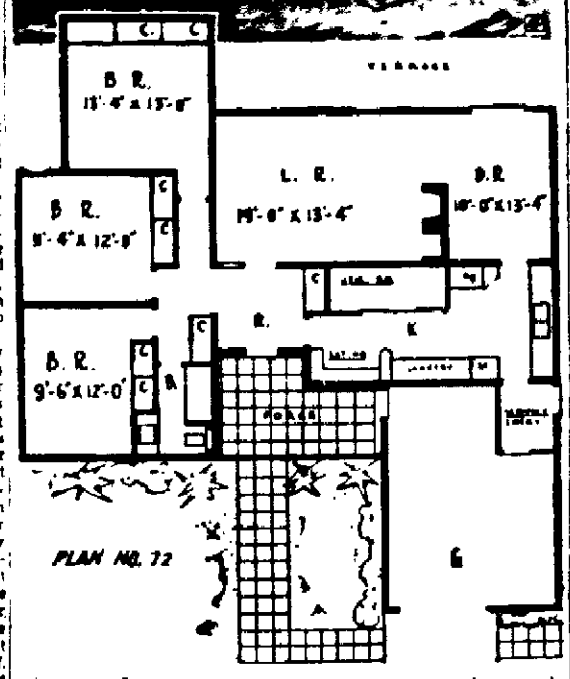
COMFORTABLE CLOTHING

Loose, comfortable clothing is recommended by health authorities as a precaution against heat prostration. Of the heat deaths that will occur this summer, 88 per cent of the victims will be under 5 and over 64 years of age.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS



Associated Press Newsfeatures

A low ranch-style dwelling, designed to face north to give the living room and dining room a southern view over the rear terrace. Plan 72 by Walter T. Anicka, architect, 616 Forest Ave., Ann Arbor, Mich., this house can be built with or without a basement. The utility room adjoining the kitchen would provide space for cellar stairs. Ample room for a work bench and garden tools is planned at one side of the garage, which has an entry from both the covered front porch and service vestibule. The house covers an area of 1,280 square feet. The architect suggests a white exterior of clapboards, shingles or whitewashed brick with an asphalt shingle roof in contrasting color.

New Automobile Agency To Be Located in Carey

CAREY—Announcement is being made this week of the location of a new Buick agency in Carey. Kermit Peterson, Edgar Keller and M. D. Shafer have formed a company to be known as the Superior Motor Service, Inc., and this company has been granted the Buick franchise in Carey.

Mr. Peterson and Mr. Keller have purchased the interest of Russell Bloom in the Shafer and Bloom garage on West Findlay street. A new garage building is now under construction on East Findlay street, east of the Dutch Mill for the new firm. The building will be 50 by 96 feet.

HOME-MADE ROOM COOLER

An effective room cooler can be made by placing a bowl of ice on a table before a window, with an electric fan blowing across it.

HEAT PROSTRATION

One-fourth of the heat prostration deaths this summer will occur in the home, according to insurance company statistics. This danger can be minimized by keeping the house cool through insulation and careful use of heat-generating sources such as cook stoves and electric appliances.

THE GARDEN CLINIC

By VICTOR H. RIES
Ohio State University Extension Floriculturist.

Q.: My lawn was seeded about eight years ago and I have hundreds of dandelions each season in bloom. My frontage is 100 feet—all level. All I have found best so far is simply keeping the grass cut short each week.

Kindly, if possible, let me know if there is such a thing as getting rid of them 100 per cent. I have nice clover in between at various spots. One nurseryman told me to sow clover all over the lawn and it would smother the "pests".

A.: If you will follow the instructions in the Extension lawn bulletin No. 271 and use 2,4-D you should be able to eliminate all of your dandelions. It will take several weeks, however, before they die. You will find also that the clover will be burned, but the most of it will survive and leaf out again.

Incidentally, set the wooden roller on your lawn mower as low as it will go. This raises the cutter bar so that the grass will not be cut so short. You should not cut grass shorter than 1½ inches to 2 inches for best results. The extensive grass foliage enables it to manufacture that much more food so that it grows more vigorously.

Q.: My Snowball bush has something wrong with it. It was okay until about half way out in bloom and the last three or four days it seems to have something like a blight. The leaves appear as if they had been close to a hot fire, but there has never been any fire within 100 feet and then not much at that. It is just at the edge of my flower garden next to my delphinium and iris. I can't see any lice or mites on it. It would have been full of blooms if they could of finished blooming. Only two on the very top may come out. I brought it in from the farm three years ago this fall. It isn't very high. Do you think it would help to cut it back to the ground or would you advise me to dig it out and get a new start. I can't see as there is anything wrong with anything else close, for I have all kinds of flowers and I take good care of them. Please advise me what to do, for I am anxious to keep it if I can.

A.: I believe from your description that your Snowball has a severe infestation of plant lice. Snow balls usually do have this late in the season the lice are difficult to control since they are more or less protected by the curled leaves. However, you can protect the new growth as it develops by spraying once a week with Black Leaf 40, following the instructions on the bottle. You can clean up the bush next year by starting spraying as the leaves develop in the early spring. You have to get every individual plant louse in order to kill it.

Because of the more or less ever-present plant lice on the common Snowball, I would suggest that they be dug out and thrown away and that a Japanese snowball be used in its place. The Japanese snowball is free from lice and if anything it is even more than the common snowball. These can be planted in either the spring or the fall when they are not in leaf.

92,000 AUTOS OUT IN WEEK

Short Week Cuts Production Below 108,000 Mark for Previous Period.

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT, July 10 — The car industry worked only four days this week but it turned out a substantial volume of vehicles.

Probably because all the factories were in production total United States output for the week was more than 92 000 units This compares with last week's 108,000, achieved with most factories operating five days.

Unless steel receipts at the factories drop off again next week's output easily could set a new postwar mark. Highest weekly output so far since peacetime production was resumed three years ago was 116 786 cars and trucks assembled during the week ended Feb 28.

Chevrolet, heaviest of the industry's producers, this week turned out its 400,000th passenger car of the current year. Chevrolet's truck output so far this year is well over the 200,000 mark.

Barring some interruption to assembly line operations, next week will see Kaiser-Frazer roll out its 100,000th car of the year. That would bring K-F's total production since assemblies began in mid-1946 to 256,250 cars.

Chance at 200,000

Kaiser-Frazer has a good chance of reaching a 200,000 unit total for the full year, although it may lose a little production later this year when it brings out new models. It is fairly well established now that the new K-F models will include a hard top convertible.

Another of the newer models soon to appear is the Willys-Overland "Jeepster" or sports phaeton. Willys already has produced several hundred of the new vehicles.

In common with most of the other so-called "independents" in the car industry, Willys is well ahead of its 1947 production level. In the first six months of this year it assembled more than 76,000 vehicles. This is about 26 per cent above its output during the same period of last year.

Packard, which has been picking up momentum during recent weeks, also is far ahead of its 1947 production In this year's first half it turned out more than 46,000 cars compared to 34,472 in the like period of last year

Ford Output Down

Ford's change-over to a completely new Ford model cost heavily in production as well as in retooling. It has been announced that retooling cost more than $37,000,000. The production loss apparently went above the 100,000 unit mark. During this year's first half Ford built about 186,000 Ford cars, compared with 294,000 in the same period of 1947.

Most industry sources expect the present shortage of new automobiles to continue well into 1950. They are confident of high volume output during the remainder of this year but not very optimistic regarding next year.

Steel, they say, will continue to be a major problem for many months. Looking beyond this year's operations, some car makers say they will not be surprised if a rigid steel allocation is imposed after the November election.

Love's Perilous Path

By ARLIE GARRISON

OLGA SAT DOWN at her desk. She took her exquisitely jeweled pen from its holder and poised it over a pad of paper But she wrote down no word, and in the next second, she had turned her revival chair toward me

"I think it will save time," she said, "for you to put down those items The number of flowers needed, and other details, we safely can leave to your florist your word on that is sufficient."

"As a matter of fact," I said "he is in close touch always with a New York establishment — headed by a woman, incidently — which is the last word on the correct and beautiful thing in flowers. What he hasn't on hand, they can get for him."

"I wish I could go to that New York shop," she sighed "I should revel in ordering the flowers. But I ranged even telephone. Because of your father's insistence on secrecy, wise precautions, of course However, I have a fairly good idea of what Olina would like

"First, the bouquet she will carry," she said, after she had put a pad of paper and a pencil in my hands "It will be an elaborate thing, of course, to go with the gown, and your Mr. Kennedy will know the size, and the number of flowers to use. Tell him to spare no expense"

She put her hand over her eyes, and I knew that, as does every mother worthy the name, she was visualizing her daughter in her wedding gown, and planning to make every accessory perfect.

"I think," she said, when she looked at me again, "that Olina's bouquet will be of white butterfly orchids in an elongated crescent shape, centered with a cluster of large white orchids, and sprinkled with lilies of the valley. No green, and no ribbon. Do you approve?"

"Do I approve?" I echoed, when I pulled myself together after visualizing the exquisite thing she had planned, and also mentally estimating what would be the staggering cost of the rare flowers to ordinary mortals But Philip Veritzen's purse is always open, and I knew that the cost of his stepdaughter's wedding never would bother him in the least "It is perfect!"

"I am glad you like it, "she said "Next, Mary I think she will carry a cluster of orchids, the color of which will depend upon the gown Philip brings for her And darling little Faith"—a tender smile hovered around her lips—"she will carry a basket of sweetheart roses, they will go with anything"

"What will you wear?" I asked when her voice ran down as if she did not mean to use it again.

"I?" she asked vaguely "Oh,I suppose the usual thing for the bride's mother, a corsage of orchids And, incidentally, while you do not need to wear court dress, the women not in the wedding party will wear evening gowns, of course, and I know Philip will wish you all to have corsages like mine Now many women, beside Olina, Mary and myself will be at the farm?"

"Three I told her "Katharine Bickett, Lillian Underwood and myself Unless, of course," I added a bit impishly, "you count Katie and Mrs Tiver"

"Why not" she said instantly, and I was ashamed of the tang of malice which had infused my question, prompted by the remembrance of Georges' regal arrogance toward Mr "K," which however, he had conquered

"They hardly will be in evening dress" — she smiled merrily — "if they serve the wedding supper, and attend to things generally "But they certainly are entitled to corsages exactly like the rest of us That's five besides mine, if you'll write it down"

"That's awfully sweet of you, Olga," I said when I had done her bidding "Mrs Tiver will take it in stride, thank you nicely and thereafter keep quiet But I can visualize Katie's dramatics. There'll be no living with her for days, she'll be so inflated"

"I shall enjoy witching her," Olga said absently "Now, please tell me how many boutonnieres for the men?"

In Loving Memory

★Of our dear daughter and mother Zora L. Garbes who died one year ago tomorrow July 11, 1947

Dearest Zora how we miss you
No one knows the pain you bore
But we know you had to leave us not because you wanted to but because you had to
But we know that you have left us to return no more
No more upon this earth we'll see
Your sweet and smiling face
There is no one in this world
Who can ever take your place
Now we must journey on without you
Though the day be long and sad
Ever looking unto Jesus
The best friend we ever had
God takes our loved ones from our homes
But never from our hearts
It is hard for us to say goodbye
But we all must part'
We loved you when you walked on earth.
And love you the same in death
No one knows how sad our home has been since you left.
Mother never will be happy in this world without you, your children miss you.
Rest dear Zora your work is done
And when the day of life is fled
May we all meet up in heaven
Where no farewell tears are shed.

Sincerely missed by your Children and Mother and Father.

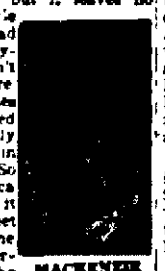
Global Scene

By DeWitt Mackenzie

THE American note to Moscow, demanding that the Soviet Union immediately lift the food blockade of western Berlin, is couched in a bluntness which is the only kind of language the Bolsheviks understand.

It is perhaps the most forceful communication ever laid before the post-war Muscovites.

It isn't belligerent and it doesn't make threats, but it leaves no doubt that Uncle Sam has had enough of bullying. He isn't taking any more.



MACKENZIE

Similar notes were sounded simultaneously by both Britain and France So far as America is concerned it will be sweet music in the ears of the average citizen who has been waiting eagerly for this hardening against Communist aggression.

The "average" citizen, by the way, gives his loyalty to America. There are Communists and fellow travelers, who are citizens in name only and take their orders from Moscow, to whom the note will not be music

The Communist food blockade is, of course, an inhuman effort to starve the 2,400,000 civilians of western Berlin and thus force America, France and Britain to withdraw from the capital. Such a withdrawal would leave the Reds free to create another satellite state out of their German zone of occupation, with Berlin as the capital

OF THIS SCHEME the Washington note warns that the United States will not be compelled by "threats, pressures or other actions" to abandon its rights in Berlin. And listen to this

"It is intolerable that any one of the occupying authorities should attempt to impose a blockade upon the people of Berlin The United States government is therefore obliged to insist that in accordance with existing agreements the arrangements for the movement of freight and passenger traffic between the western zones and Berlin be fully restored."

Secretary Marshall says in the note that the United States "is ready as a first step to participate in negotiations in Berlin among the four Allied occupying authorities" for the settlement of outstanding disputes However, he flatly declares it is "a prerequisite that the lines of communication and the movement of persons and goods between the United Kingdom, the United States and the French sectors in Berlin and the western zone shall have been fully restored."

RUSSIA SAYS U.S. EXPLOITS CHILDREN

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, July 10—The United States and western European nations were accused by a Russian newspaper today of "exploiting children" in the coming Olympic games.

Russia is not competing in the Olympics

The Moscow News said

"Exploitation of children is widely practiced in the United States and western Europe

"Jimmy McLane, the American 'Olympic hope' is a 16-year-old lad (McLane now 17, is one of three Americans who qualified yesterday for the 400 meter event in swimming He is from Akron, Ohio) According to the French newspaper record, Australia will be represented at the Olympic games by a 13-year-old, Marjorie Mackaway, and England by a 14-year-old Eleanor Gordon and 15-year-old John Wadrope

"The national teams of many western European countries will evidently likewise include children whose sport careers are doomed to be crippled before they get a chance to mature."

The newspaper pointed out that exploitation of child athletes was impossible by law in the USSR

DIES IN ACCIDENT

NEWARK, O., July 10—Doris Rogers, 18, died in a Newark hospital yesterday, five hours after she fell from a car driven by Jack Donavan, 22, police said. They quoted Donovan as saying the car door opened on a curve.

Realizing he is in a spot, he prays for aid and the prayer is promptly answered by the appearance of Gary Grant, who is seen as Dudley, modest guest who proceeds to reorganize the household

Marion Nine To Play Champions Of Detroit in First Interstate Game

By BILL MURPHEY

Tomorrow afternoon at Lincoln park at 2:30 a baseball game between Marion's American Legion Junior baseball team and the Hamtramck Falcons, champions of the 30-team Detroit district association, will mark a "first" for Marion.

It will be the first time in the history of the Junior Legion baseball that two teams of separate states have ever met in regular season play, and it promises to be an affair of first class importance. Several high officials of the Junior Legion baseball system will be present, action pictures will be taken for publication in Sporting News, and the feasibility of having other Legion teams throughout the nation make similar road trips will be tested.

The idea for playing the game was originated by Ralph Schick, Lincoln-Mercury dealer here and one of the team sponsors, W. E. Orcutt, team manager, and Judge W. R. Martin at the first meeting of league officials of the Marion team about six weeks ago. Plans for the game were cemented by Ralph Schick and George Landsbury, head of the Dearborn district, early this week.

Carl McGiffin, Junior Legion baseball representative for the eastern half of the United States, P. J. Finch of Mowbry-Finch, Inc., Ford dealers and sponsor of the Falcon team, will come here with Mr. Landsbury for the inaugural.

Won 11, Lost 1

Coach Ladry's Falcons, tied with two other teams for first place in the Detroit league prior to the tournament playoff, boasts a season record of 11 games won and one lost, and a team batting average of over .300. Attendance for the tournament playoff there was 1,500.

The team, sponsored by the Falcon American Legion post of Hamtramck, is also a regular visitor to the Steve Gromek winter baseball school at Cleveland each year. Gromek, pitcher for the Cleveland Indians, is a native of Hamtramck and the Falcon post regularly sponsors the schooling.

Marion will enter the fray with a record of five victories against two defeats, and boasts a team batting average of .305 for the season. They have won three times and lost once in league competition.

Coach "Ninnie" Irvin is undecided on his starting team but it will be taken from the following roster (position and batting averages in parentheses): Merle Daum of near Marion (pitcher, .056), Jim Edington of 900 Oak Grove avenue (pitcher, .142), Bob Seedle of 378 Latourette (pitcher, .500), Dick Jones of near Marion (pitcher, no average), Ronnie Larcom of near Waldo (pitcher, .500), Emmet Ledford of 511 Delaware avenue (utility infielder, .600), Dick Leffler of 336 Owens street (utility outfielder, no average), Jim Seiter of 354 Bellefontaine avenue (catcher, .366), Dick Cramer of 230 Chestnut street (catcher, .571), Jack Daum of near Marion (first baseman), 160), Dick Roseberry of 272 Patterson street (second baseman .200), Dick Thomas of 1059 East Center street (shortstop, 300), Dick Wolfe of 576 Girard avenue (third baseman, .310), Ron Gorby of near Marion (leftfielder, .360), George Stoffer of 780 Oak Grove (center fielder, .392) and Bill Nickol of 533 Universal avenue (rightfielder, .300).

To Play Return Game

Marion will play a return game with the Falcons in August. While in the Motor City, they will make a tour of the River Rouge plant, visit Greenfield Village and attend a big league ball game.

The Marionites will play a regular Sixth District league game at Lincoln park at 3:30 this afternoon when they will be host to the Sunbury nine.

Junior Baseball Is First Step On Way To Majors

Marion's American Legion Junior baseball team is all lined up, practicing regularly, unhampered by injuries, full of confidence and ready to test their strength with an out-of-state foe. In short, they are ready to meet the Junior Legion league champions of Detroit at Lincoln park Sunday afternoon, team Manager W. E. Orcutt, announced today.

A check of statistics shows some interesting facts about Junior baseball.

Last year 11,701 officially listed Legion teams participated in the country's greatest season of Junior baseball. This amounted to some 187,216 players—figuring 16 players to each recognized club. Thus we have a large group of boys who have their uniforms furnished, fields to play on, and equipment to play with—and a wonderful opportunity to become a big leaguer thrown in. Many of the young players will matriculate to the big time.

Babe Ruth, the idol of millions of kids last year and again this year, was hired at a salary of $80,000 by the Ford Motor Co. as consultant to the Junior program. William Harridge, president of the American league; A. B. Chandler, commissioner of baseball; Ford Frick, president of the National league, and George M. Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional baseball, pay glowing tribute to Junior Baseball.

And well they might, for there were 113 former Junior baseballers in the American league last year, 91 in the National and approximately 2,967 in the minors.

Cleveland had 15 former Junior circut players, numbering among them such stars as Lou Boudreau, Bob Feller, Joe Gordon, Steve Gromek, Jim Hegan, Bob Lemon and Hal Peck; Cincinnati had 14, which included Johnny Vander Meer, Herman Wehmeier, Grady Hatton and Virgil Stallcup.

The Junior baseball player has his foot on the bottom rung in the upward climb to baseball fame and even though all of the players cannot reach the big leagues, a trip to the national championship playoffs is not beyond the dreams of boys. Last year, an Ohio team—Robert E. Bentley Post of Cincinnati—made the trip all the way to Los Angeles and emerged as national champions of the country.

AMAZING A'S STILL ON PENNANT TRAIL

Defeat of Bosox Leaves Mackmen Right Behind Tribe.

By The Associated Press

Half way through the pennant race, the amazing Philadelphia Athletics continue to dog the footsteps of the front-running Cleveland Indians.

Instead of folding their pennant ambitions and settling for an expected comfortable berth on the fringe of the first division, Connie Mack's underrated A's insist on eyeing that World Series cash. Every day it becomes tougher to say they're wrong.

Once again the Cleveland Tribe has to line up a friendly array of percentage points to protect its shrinking American league lead. The A's have won three more than the Indians but they've also lost three more. Consequently they remain 10 points back with exactly half of the 154-game schedule still ahead.

They did it the hard way last night, coming from behind twice to outlast the slugging Boston Red Sox 8-7, while Cleveland was losing to St. Louis, 6-3.

New York also moved up on the Tribe by a 9-0 romp over Washington as Eddie Lopat tossed a four-hit shutout.

Detroit copped its fifth in a row, downing Chicago 4-2. Freddie Hutchinson earned his fifth win with a six-hit effort, losing a shut-out in the ninth when Aaron Robinsop homered with one on.

Shortly after learning that second baseman Eddie Stanky would be out of action with a broken ankle until mid-September, the Boston Braves overwhelmed Philadelphia, 12-2. Aided by this 14-hit assault, Johnny Sain became the first National leaguer to cop 11 games.

The Braves opened up a 3½ game lead on the Pittsburgh Pirates who bowed to Chicago, 2-1, in the majors only day game.

Rex Barney of Brooklyn reeled off his second winning effort in succession, taming New York with four hits, 10-3, before 50,819 customers in the Polo grounds. This was the largest National league crowd of the year.

Errors by Danny Litwhiler and Red Stallcup enabled St Louis to trim Cincinnati, 6-4, on a pair of unearned runs in the eighth.

Bill Nicholson's 11th homer of the year with Andy Pafko on base in the sixth provided Chicago's 2-1 margin over Pittsburgh's Elmer Riddle.

ALEXANDER LEADS FIELD IN COLUMBUS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 10—Stewart (Skip) Alexander, broad-shouldered, bespectacled 29-year-old ex-Army captain from Lexington, N. C., is a double-barrelled news item this weekend.

Down in Knoxville, Tenn., tomorrow's papers will announce his approaching marriage (October) to Miss Kathleen Ann Reade. Today's papers are announcing that the former Duke golf captain, who turned pro a couple of years ago after a long Army career, is the No 1 man in the race for the third annual Columbus Open golf title.

Skip, sinking putts from everywhere, rattled off seven birdies and 11 pars for a 32-32—64 in yesterday's opening round to take a two-stroke edge over a field of 100. There are another 18 holes today, and 36 tomorrow, but that $2,000 top prize is important to a guy contemplating matrimony and Alexander may stay right out front the rest of the way.

Lloyd Mangrum, the 1946 National Open king from Chicago, and George Schoux, the 29-year-old star from Mamaroneck, N. Y., each clipped par by five strokes with near 66's, but were two strokes off the pace.

Gay One Wins 2 Dashes, Sets Fastest Mile Time of Meet

By GEORGE SCOTT

If horses had human traits, Gay One, a brown three-year-old filly, would be going around with her nose up in the air today as well she might. Because:

1. She won both the sixth and eighth races last night at the fairgrounds.

2. She set the fastest time for the mile of the meet so far. Scotty Welch drove her twice around the half-mile oval in 2:07, bettering the time set by Barefoot G in the second night of racing by one and 2.5th seconds.

Owned by C. E. Burkepyle of Mt Vernon, Gay One made an impressive showing in both races. In the sixth race, also a miler, she came up from fifth place the second time around the back stretch and passed the pack to win by a wide margin.

Gay One gave proof that history repeats itself by doing the same thing in the eighth race, only faster. Again she pulled out from fifth place and she was gone. She just had too much power for the field of seven to catch her after that.

Big Night for Welch

It was a big night for Scotty Welch. He brought home three winners with his fine driving. Beside riding Gay One to those two sparkling victories, he started the evening off right by driving Bob E Vo to a win in the first race. This moves him into a tie with Walt Dispanette in firsts brought home. Each man has four in the meet so far.

At the start of the sixth contest Walt Dispanette, who earlier had continued his pace as a leading driver of the meet by winning the fifth race with Barrage, was thrown from Hand Book Dispanette's leg was banged up but neither driver nor horse were believed injured. Hand Book came back to place fifth in the eighth race with Lou Huber Jr as driver. It is expected Dispanette will be back racing tonight.

A crowd of over 4,000 saw a couple of long shots come home in the money. Golden Star, at odds of 25 to 1, took the lead of the first race, a mile 24 class trot, at the first quarter and beat off the challenge of Scotmire to win. Owned and driven by Ken Spain of Marysville, the eight-year-old bay mare whose best was a fourth in her last five tries paid $53 for $2.

McNamara Horse Surprises

In the fourth Pepper Finnegan, owned by Dr J G McNamara of Marion and driven by Charley Sims, surprised everyone. When Winmate broke at the start, Pepper Finnegan took the lead and never gave it up. The 24 class trotter paid $26.40 to win.

The daily double paid $124.40 for winners Bob E Vo in the first and the forgotten Golden Star in the second.

In the seventh race JEW, owned and driven by the green and gold of C R Baker of Richwood, looked good as he had no trouble taking the $400 purse of the mile 21 class trot.

Starts for both the first and second races were recalled by starter Paul Young when horses reared up and began to run the wrong way of the track. Jolly Baron in the first and Roamer in the second had trouble starting the second time also and finished last.

The grandstands were full before the horses paraded to the post for the first race. By the second race the temporary stands were filled also and crowds lined the rails.

BOB MASON is third in number of wins with three. . . .The most popular name of the meet is Edwards. Bus Edwards, Arlo Edwards, Red Edwards and Jim Edwards are drivers. In one race, the fifth contest of the fourth night, three of them were driving in a field of eight. To add to the confusion, there are two more—owners Frank Edwards and Donald (you guess the last name). . . . Overheard in the crowd—"I've tried every system but looking at the horses' records!"

Records for the Marion track are 2:03¼ for a mile pace and 2:04¼ for the trot. . . . Barefoot G, who had the meet's fastest time for the mile until last night, was sired by Gallent G. He was the greatest money-winning stallion of all time. The general opinion on Paul Young's long, shining auto starting gate has been "Ummmm."

REDS BLOW LEAD, LOSE TO CARDS, 6-4

By The Associated Press

ST. LOUIS, July 10—Cincinnati's Redlegs blew a 4-0 lead last night and went down before the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-4.

Eighth inning errors by Virgil Stallcup and Danny Litwhiler gave the Cards the winning runs.

The loss broke a four-game win streak for the Reds and left them a half-game behind Philadelphia and Brooklyn. The Phils and Dodgers are tied for sixth place.

Johnny Neun, who has been able to smile more often as the Redlegs won 10 of their last 16 starts, had troubles, however. He complains he has been unable to field the same club five times in succession at anytime during the season.

His present injury list includes Johnny Wyrostek, the capable centerfielder who has been fattening his batting average. Others are Grady Hatton, a home run hitting third baseman of last year, who has lost much weight and Bobby Adams, who suffered a groin injury early this season and had a recurrence of the trouble this week.

Birds Open Series With Tribe Tonight

By The Associated Press

The scrap for first place in the American Association moves under the lights at victory field in Indianapolis tonight when the onrushing Columbus Red Birds open a three-game series with the fading league-leading Indians.

Columbus advanced to within 2½ games of Indianapolis last night, beating last-place Louisville, 9 to 8, while Toledo upset Indianapolis, 3 to 4. It was the fifth straight loss for Indianapolis and gave Toledo a sweep of the three-game series.

The Columbus-Louisville and Indianapolis-Toledo games were the only league games on the schedule.

LIMA, MUNCIE WIN ZANY O-I GAMES

By The Associated Press

Even for the Ohio-Indiana league, where baseball surprises are more common than double-headers, Lima and Muncie turned in something new in victory methods last night.

Lima's Terriers split a double-header with Springfield, winning the first game, 10-3, after which the Giants took the second, 8-6. It was the way Lima won that first game that startled the boys.

The Terriers scored 10 runs in the first inning on eight hits, two walks and one error. Then they settled down and got one blow the rest of the seven-inning game.

Muncie's league-leading Reds did it the other way around in taking a single game from Zanesville, 12-7. Zany thing about that win was the fact the game went 12 innings and that the Reds waited until the top of the 12th to slug six hits and six runs.

In the other league games, Marion blanked Portsmouth 6-0, behind the six-hit pitching of Lefty Frank Marchelli; and Newark topped Richmond, 7-2, for Dick Murphy's 11th pitching triumph of the season.

LOWLY BROWNIES SPANK TRIBE, 5-3

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, July 10—It seems that the St. Louis Browns aren't the "cousins" the Cleveland Indians thought they were.

At least the lowly Brownies weren't in the mood to play such a role last night as they spanked the jittery Tribesmen 5 to 3 and dropped them into a virtual first place tie with the Philadelphia Athletics.

The A's beat the Boston Red Sox and climbed within 10 percentage points of Cleveland.

Bob Lemon was charged with the loss, his seventh against 12 victories. Lemon was staggered in the opening inning when the Browns tallied three runs on three hits and a pair of walks.

The Tribe got one of the runs back in its half of the same inning by Dale Mitchell's single, an infield out and Manager Lou Boudreau's single.

Fred Sanford, who was the winning hurler, parked one of Lemon's fast ones over the left field fence to open the second and it eventually proved to be the winning run.

Cleveland narrowed the gap to 4 to 2 in the sixth on Walt Judnich's double and pinch-hitter Larry Doby's single. The Indians got their third and last run in their half of the seventh on Joe Gordon's walk and Ken Keltner's double.

The game marked the major league debut of Leroy (Satchel) Paige, famed Negro hurler purchased Wednesday by the Indians. Paige twirled the fifth and sixth innings after Lemon was removed for a pinch-hitter. He shut out the Browns with two singles and wowed the crowd with his assortment of deliveries. Satchel fanned one Brownie and forced another to line into a double play.

Marchelli Shuts Out A's On 6 Hits As Marion Wins, 6-0

By BILL BEIM

Lefty Frank Marchelli blanked the Portsmouth Athletics on six hits last night as the Marion Cubs took the rubber game of the series here, 6-0.

Marchelli, a control pitcher, set them down in order in three innings and faced more than four men only in the ninth.

Lee Bohlander's peg home of Al Arcenti's single to right field caught Hilly Flitcraft at the plate for the final out, enabling the slight Cambridge, Mass., southpaw to notch his sixth win as a shutout, the third that Marion hurlers have pitched this season. He struck out seven and walked three, the only batters he was behind on.

Arcenti's blow, and Forest Reade's, which preceded it, were Portsmouth's only two hard hit singles of the game. Flitcraft dropped a double into the hole back of third base in the second inning for Portsmouth's only extra base hit.

While Marchelli was throttling the A's, the Cubs reached Don Downey for three runs in the second inning off Gene Bohzean's scratch hit, a walk, a sacrifice by Stan King that left the bases loaded when the ball was played too late at third, a wild pitch and Don Schmitt's single to left field.

Bobzean Hotsers

In the third Bobzean waited out a slow pitch tossed by Downey's immediate successor, Dutch Romberger, meeting the ball just right and sending it over the left field wall for a home run, his fourth since joining the club one month ago.

The A's protested that the ball went foul and were still protesting in the fourth inning when Umpire Jim McClintock cleared the Portsmouth bench, Staller having to send out to the locker room for substitutes.

A walk and singles by Pete Neukirch and Bill Bolduc brought in two more runs in the fourth, but pitchers Jim McCrea and Manager George Staller, who tossed the final inning, blanked the Cubs the rest of the way out.

Staller had a lot of fun trying to pick Stan King off base in the eighth, but the Marion catcher always beat the throw. Staller walked the bases full, but meanwhile got the side out on pop ups.

MARION'S TWO new pitchers—Mike Kelly and Jim Tingle—and yet a third—Jim Koehler, a lefthander — were spectators of Frank Marchelli's shutout last night. All three are from Class B ball clubs. Kelly, who looks a lot like Pat Bray, Marion St Mary athlete last year, is from the Springfield, Mass., Cubs. Tingle, a slight, wiry-haired righthander, is from the Selma, Ala., Cubs, and red-headed Koehler is from Decatur, Ill., by way of Sioux Falls, S. D. Pitcher Nick Alivoyodoc was fined $25 and suspended indefinitely yesterday by League President Frank Colley who charged him with inciting the disturbance at the Marion-Portsmouth doubleheader Thursday night. Colley commended Manager Franz Kristie for his attempt to quiet the crowd when the pop bottles began to fly.

FOREST LAWN BLANKS ST. MARY NO. 1, 7-0

St Mary No 1, which went through the first round of play in the Church league with an unsoiled record of 6-0, was dropped from the undefeated ranks in the first game of the second round by Forest Lawn last night, 7-0. Wilcox pitched the shutout for Forest Lawn with a five-hit performance, while his mates got 10 safe blows.

Greenwood trounced St Mary No 2 in the only other game played last night, 20-11. The Greenies collected 10 hits off Stuber and erred on two hit balls while St Mary hit safely on six occasions and bobbled five chances. R. Donaugh was on the mound for the Irish.
